James Felton

Principal Consultant, The Table Group

Founder, Felton Consulting Group

In partnering with the Table Group, James brings 20 years of experience in leading organizations and people. James has a proven understanding how the goals and needs of the team can blend with the goals and needs of the individual. He takes great satisfaction in seeing organizations develop clarity and success based on this simple principle.

James works with CEOs and executive teams to develop and optimize every member of the team in order to create a dynamic and engaging environment. James brings his practical approach, his belief in organizational health, and his enjoyment of facilitating to every client he works with.

Prior to starting his consulting practice and partnering with the Table Group, James developed his leadership experience as the Director of Operations at National Equipment & Service, in an executive position with a private high school, and as a business owner. Additionally, James has worked with sports teams at the high school, club, and college level where he coached numerous championship teams and All-Americans.

James received his B.S in Cognitive and Social Sciences at the University of California, Irvine. He now lives in Scottsdale, Arizona with his wife and two daughters.

A list of some of the clients James has worked with for The Table Group shows the wide scope of his experience from large tech companies to non-profits to small family-run companies.

Endorsements

“James has helped us change our game -- our executive team made a quantum leap in capability and effectiveness after the first intense, two day session. We're more focused, more coordinated, and more efficient than we have ever been. James "gets us" -- no small feat -- and every element of every interaction is dynamic, professional and dead on target. From consultant to partner during the first engagement -- the greatest return on consulting dollars I've ever realized.”

—Matt Branigan, Chairman & CEO, The Akal Group of Companies

“James helped strengthen our leadership team's dynamics and guided us as we refined our mission and core values. His two day offsite and pre- and post- work with our team continues to make an impact today. James is an engaging, caring, strategic leader and built lasting relationships with our senior leaders. We trust James and his team to return to Seattle again this year for continuing our healthy organizational development.”

—Merideth Tall, CEO & Chair, Clipper Navigation, Inc.
