Prior to partnering with The Table Group, Keith was a vice president with software firm CareerBuilder where he headed sales development, the employment branding practice and led teams in marketing and human resources. He was a consultant at McGladrey in the human capital and strategic planning group and served at the Moody Bible Institute as the corporate trainer. Keith holds an MBA from the University of Illinois at Chicago and a Bachelor of Arts from Baylor University.

Keith lives with his wife and three children in Glen Ellyn, Illinois.

Endorsements

"Keith worked closely with our newly formed executive team during the launch of Alight from Aon. Keith was a valuable partner in building team cohesion – agreeing on team norms, an aggressive meeting cadence and focus on business issues. The impact of this work was in our ability to make faster, higher quality decisions and execute against goals as a unified team. I appreciated Keith's candor with me and his positive and engaging style."

—Chris Michalak, CEO, Alight Solutions

"Keith's work has played an integral part in helping our exec team stay focused and aligned — impacting both our culture and our strategy. In the build-up and execution of the acquisition by Kroger, in our integration and continued growth, we've never been healthier."

—Pat Vihtelic, Founder & CEO, Home Chef
